1st International Symposium on Security Governance, Innovation and Development in Africa (GSIDA - 2025)

From 03 to 05 Novembre 2025

Under the theme

"Role of the Private Sector, Local Communes and Civil Society in Security Governance and Sustainable Development"

overview

This international symposium provides a platform for analyzing the contributions of non-state actors (private sector, local authorities, civil associations) to security governance, crisis management, the promotion of citizen security and sustainable development.

The GSIDA 2025 International Colloquium aims to be an open, interdisciplinary platform for reflection, bringing together experts from a wide range of academic and professional backgrounds. By mobilizing skills from the social, legal, economic, political, technological, environmental, cultural and sporting sciences, it promotes an integrative approach to analyzing the challenges of security governance, innovation and development. This disciplinary diversity guarantees a rich and plural debate, conducive to the development of solutions adapted to contemporary issues.
